

Art Review:

Issue 34

'I don't believe you can create art - the only thing you can do is follow your interests' - Jeff Koon

SEPTEMBER 2009

Gustav Metzger
The artist who came in from the cold

Anton Kannemeyer
Exclusive new comic strip

Rembrandt
The most famous Dutch painter on why everything had to be so gloomy

Seoul, baby!
One man's quest to find the essence of Korean art

JEFF KOON

in a field of

ANTONY GORM

down off

Can artists be loved too much? A
plus CARTER, JAMES TURRELL,

08

Parisian edition and confectionary purveyors Ligne Blanche have collaborated with the Andy Warhol Foundation to create a range of products to make old-fashioned Pop art taste twenty-first-century fresh. Look out for chocolate dollar signs, Warhol self-portraits and bananas, as well as a box of Marilyn Monroe milk chocolates - all part of the Andy Warhol Confectionary Selection. Yum!

www.ligneblancheparis.com